

Social Networks and Weblogs for Information Sharing

Hideaki Takeda

Professor, National Institute of Informatics, Japan

Abstract:

This talk explains our five-years academic research on social media in Japan including weblogs, social networking services, and social bookmarking. The experimental results with a general survey of Japanese social services are explained. Our aim of the research is to seek the possibility of advanced information sharing to realize community-based knowledge sharing/construction.